

I am appalled that apparently the FCC has no authority (or has it and chooses not to use it) to preclude the actions of the Sinclair group of airing a biased "documentary" just days before our national election.

As a member of the public, I do not consider their actions to be in *my* best interest. At the very least they should also run another piece, like "Going Upriver".